Developing A Sustainable Corporate ADR Culture

Non-binding dispute resolution processes, such as mediation, are increasingly used by companies to successfully resolve complex multimillion disputes. Yet, there are still many obstacles and challenges to a more systematic use of ADR by corporations. At this seminar, jointly organized by the International Institute for Conflict Prevention & Resolution (CPR) and the Chamber of Arbitration of Milan (CAM), in-house and outside counsel participants will examine whether the Italian legislation making mediation mandatory has helped to spread a sustainable culture of mediation. Participants will also discuss initiatives undertaken by ADR institutions to encourage the use of mediation and exchange practical tips on how companies can successfully develop a sustainable culture of ADR.

Welcome:

- Stefano Azzali – Secretary General of Chamber of Arbitration of Milan
- Noah Hanft – CPR's President & CEO; Former General Counsel of MasterCard Worldwide
